Speaker: San Rafael City Police Department Officers

Topic: Current Policing Issues in Marin – What You Want and Need to Know!

Given the past couple years' onslaught of haters' broad brushes painting cops in a way that defies logic, calling for Defunding of our Police, it is reassuring to see that the majority of citizens are regaining their sanity and recognizing the need and value of our nation's law enforcement officers. Not enough stories highlight the compassion, courage, and dedication of our police officers and first responders.

The April lunch speakers are two officers from the San Rafael Police Department, who have agreed to give us an inside glimpse of what is happening in our community and answer some of our questions.

For instance, after our fundraiser for anti-trafficking last year, what is the status here in Marin? What about the increasing number of homeless, and what is helping or hurting the problem? Drugs? Housing? Has the massive amount of illegal immigration through the southern California border impacted Marin? Are local thefts increasing and what safety precautions do they recommend? What are some challenges that police officers face? How can we support our local police departments? And hopefully we will learn the positive aspects of working in law enforcement, and some happy ending situations that they encountered in the course of their work. Don't miss this opportunity.

President's Report

Moral Case for Democracy

By Daniel Hannan, author of Inventing Freedom

This book and the summarizing video linked below are so important that I have prepared my own summary here with highlights I want to share with you.

Let's go back nearly 12,000 years to the moment when one of our ancestors made a world-changing discovery. It turned out that if you left seeds in fertile soil, plants would grow from them. Instead of having to forage, you could produce your own grains or fruits where you wanted.

But it didn't take long for someone to make the next discovery. Rather than spending all year tending to your own crops, you could wait for your neighbor to bring in his harvest and then steal it... And then came the truly diabolical discovery. If you wanted to maximize the ratio of effort to outcome, you could organize a gang of thugs and seize not only your neighbor's harvest, but everyone's harvest, regularizing your plunder through tithes, tolls, and taxes.

And thus, it continued until well... until roughly the end of the 17th century and the birth of modern liberal capitalism. Sure there were premonitions before then, little tremors of freedom, but almost everyone on the planet still lived in servitude and penury. Every previous society was based on systematized oppression. Ruling elites would use the institutions of the state to loot its resources, and then rig the rules so that their children would inherit the same privileged position...Oppression, serfdom, and bondage were the lot of almost every human being from the moment civilization began until an eyeblink ago.

As Voltaire put it in 1764, "Enter the London Stock Exchange and you will see representatives from all nations gathered together for the common good of mankind. Here Jew, Muslim, and Christian deal with one another as if all were of the same faith, and the only people called 'infidels' are those who go bankrupt."

Under capitalism, we need to think of what other people want, of what we can do for them. It is how we get ahead. Whereas socialism replaces our natural human relations with state control, capitalism draws us into productive networks of mutual dependency. We become more attentive, more empathetic, and thus, more aware of the case for universal human rights. Capitalism doesn't just make us better off. It makes us better people. Enjoy this 5 minute video; then read and enjoy the book.

"Why are people so tired on April 1st? Because they have just finished a 31-day March."

A few historical facts:

-On April 3, 1995, Supreme Court Justice Sandra Day O'Connor became the first woman to preside over the court, sitting in for Chief Justice William H. Rehnquist, who was out of town.

-California is among the first states to ratify the 19th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, approved by Congress on June 4, 1919, guaranteeing all American women the right to vote. We continue to empower one another.

Americanism

An Honest American History (Message via Hillsdale College)

American civics education, and specifically the teaching of American history, is at a crisis point. In K-12 schools nationwide, false narratives are being constructed, and content is being cherry-picked to (usually) fit an ideological, anti-American agenda.

As a result, Americans are faced with a choice: allow our children to be indoctrinated using curricula developed by anti-American ideologues, or insist that our children are taught honestly, using a curriculum that presents a fair, unbiased, and comprehensive view of our nation's history. We must insist on the latter, both for the sake of truth and the sake of our children and America's future.

For these reasons, Hillsdale College produced their "1776 Curriculum," a K-12 history and civics curriculum that covers the triumphs and tragedies of American history fairly and comprehensively. It was designed not by activists or ideologues, but by teachers and professors at Hillsdale College. It is not a slap-dash response to the efforts of anti-American ideologues to indoctrinate children. It is a 2,000-page, 85-lesson curriculum based on decades of studying American history and provided free of charge to educators, home-school families, and concerned citizens nationwide. But they could use tax-deductible support.

Satellite Club – Conservative Conversations, Cocktails, and Comestibles

We spent another wonderful evening dissecting all our country's problems and our thoughts for the upcoming election. It truly is the election of the century. Will our country move forward or continue to unravel? Naturally, we all hope we can move forward and solve some of our most pressing problems: human trafficking, homelessness, the immigration problem, the debt, and the endless corruption that seems to be everywhere.

Our Satellite Club meetings are indeed a cathartic evening to help us all deal with the chaos Joe Biden has unleashed on us. In addition to all the generous and interesting food contributions, being on DeSilva Island made it a special evening. Thank you so much, Mia, for letting us share in the beauty of the island. Our next Satellite meeting will be April 26th at Jan Miller's home.

Books, Books, Books

We have two service projects that focus on books for kids.

The Book Exchange

It is a community service organization run entirely by volunteers who believe in the power of literacy to change lives.

Gently used or new chapter books for children (grades 1st-8th grade) are needed. A special request was made for any books about soccer. Books can be obtained at local yard sales, Facebook Marketplace, or eBay. In eBay, search "used bulk children's chapter books free shipping." There are many listings under $25 with no shipping fees. Alternatively, visit The Book Place at 1608 Grant Avenue in Novato. All books should be brought to the March meeting. Donor forms from The Book Exchange will be available at the meeting for tax purposes.

MELP – Mamie Eisenhower Library Project

This is a program of the National Federation of Republican Women that our club works on throughout the year. We offer books to local libraries and schools from the inventory of book titles assembled by NFRW. We ask our Members to donate to the MELP project during the year. Our Satellite Club attendees are asked at each meeting to put their donation in the Jar. Then we visit the Librarians and Teachers with our list from which they choose the books they would like us to deliver to them.

Be a part of Books, Books, Books every month and all year long. Contact Mary Grove and Mary Elsbree.

Legislative Report

By Ruth Holly – MRWF Legislative reporter

In 2023 the California's Dream for All Shared Appreciation loan program was started to assist low and moderate-income first-time home buyers. The stated mission of the California Housing Finance Agency is “investing in diverse communities with financing programs that help more Californians have a place to call home.” This program is being marketed to realtors who serve people of color and to ethnic media to increase their home ownership. Democrat Assemblyman Joaquin Arambula has sponsored AB 1840 California Dream for All Program which extends eligibility to this state-funded program to illegal aliens.

The California legislature in the 2022 session passed AB 205. This wide-ranging energy bill requires the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) and the public utilities they regulate to establish a progressive income-based fixed charge by June 30th of this year. The rule has led to concerns about fairness and privacy. Assemblyman Damon Connolly is a coauthor of AB1999, the bill titled Electricity: fixed charges, which would repeal this provision.

In addition, Connolly has sponsored AB 2619, the bill titled Net energy metering, to counteract the CPUC's decision to reduce the payment promised to rooftop solar homeowners for excess battery stored power. Of note, all houses built after 2021 are required to have rooftop solar. The five members of the CPUC were appointed by Governor Newsom and appear to share his net-zero “climate” agenda. They have allowed PG&E to raise energy prices 60% in the last two years.

In 2023 the legislature passed SB 2, the bill titled Energy: transportation fuels: supply and pricing: maximum gross gasoline refining margin, increasing the regulatory burden on the oil industry which will further increase costs. It also established a new commission to harass the oil industry.

U.S. Congress seat vacated by Kevin McCarthy – What happens now?

There is a special election on May 21, 2024 for the Central Valley California seat in the U.S. Congress vacated by Kevin McCarthy.

Governor Gavin Newsom issued a proclamation declaring a special election for the 20th Congressional District.

Newsom set the primary for the special election in the state's 20th Congressional District for March 19th, a contest that will include candidates of any party. If no candidate wins a majority of the vote in the Bakersfield-area district, the top two candidates, regardless of party, will move on to a general election, scheduled for May 21st. The winner will serve for the remainder of McCarthy's House term.

Meanwhile, the election to win McCarthy's seat for a full term in November will already be underway, with a primary set for March 5th. Several state and local GOP officials, including Assemblymember Vince Fong, former congressional candidate David Giglio and Tulare County Sheriff Mike Boudreaux, are already vying for the seat.

Tax Increase on Medi-Cal Managed Care Plans Really for Governor's $73 Billion Budget Deficit?

This is money being taken out of your pockets to pay the governor's bad debts

By Katy Grimes, March 19, 2024 The California Globe

California Democrat lawmakers are pushing a bill to increase the tax on Medi-Cal managed care plans by another $1.5 billion, to fund the state share of cost in the Medi-Cal program. Or so we are told. While this appears to be in-the-weeds legislative lingo, it also appears to be a money grab to help Gov. Newsom shore up his $73 billion budget deficit... on the backs of the state's poorest people, and physicians who can't get full reimbursement for treating Medi-Cal patients.

Marin Republican Women, Federated

This is what third world countries do when the results of Socialism or Communism come home to roost. All you need to know is this is money being taken out of your pockets to pay the governor's bad debts.

Assembly Bill 119 in 2023 authorized amendments to the Medi-Cal Managed Care Organization Provider Tax (MCO tax), affecting the budget of the Department of Health Care Services, according to bill analysis.

Last year, the MCO tax was to expire.

2024's Senate Bill 136 increases that tax, as the bill language shows:

Existing law sets forth certain taxing tiers and tax amounts for purposes of the tax periods of April 1, 2023, to December 31, 2023, inclusive, and the 2024, 2025, and 2026 calendar years. Under existing law, the Medi-Cal per enrollee tax amount for Medi-Cal taxing tier II, as defined, is $182.50 for the 2024 calendar year, $187.50 for the 2025 calendar year, and $192.50 for the 2026 calendar year.

This bill would raise that tax amount for that tier to $205 for all 3 of those calendar years. (emphasis the Globe)

SB 136 seeks to impose another $1.5 billion General Fund tax increase, which will be matched by federal funds to give the governor $3.1 billion.

Last year's MCO Tax (Assembly Bill 119) also taxed health plans, however, those revenues were intended to fund Medi-Cal providers with much-needed rate increases to Medi-Cal physicians.

This MCO Tax will not fund rate increases, but will instead be used to backfill the Governor's massive budget shortfall.

The bottom line is that AB 119 was a bad bill and was passed and signed into law by Gov. Gavin Newsom in June 2023. And Democrats are back with another bad bill to help provide cover for additional funding for Newsom's budget deficit.

I wonder what federal auditors would say about this scheme...

The governor will be able to "shift" $3.1 billion from the Medi-Cal Provider Payment Reserve Fund to the general fund to help shore up his $73 billion budget deficit. How many other state agency budgets are facing such a scheme?

Republican lawmakers warned in Assembly floor debate Monday that the "shift" and additional tax affects the long-term stability of the Medi-Cal Managed Care Organization Provider Tax-funded provider rate increases by creating a fiscal cliff when the MCO Tax expires.

Or the governor will just get another bill passed to extend the tax...

Assemblyman Vince Fong (R-Bakersfield) called this another "tax," and reminded lawmakers that promises were made last year of no increases on the MCO tax. Fong said the governor was "diverting funds to cover state mismanagement."

The vote on SB 136 was telling, almost entirely along party lines, but with a few curious abstentions on such a blatant tax increase:

This budget scheme does nothing to improve California's healthcare system, which is why it is curious that Republicans, including the Minority Floor Leader, Assemblyman Heath Flora (R-Ripon), who is the policy leader, did not vote against the tax bill (his second questionable vote in one legislative session).

Republican Leader Assemblyman James Gallagher (R-Yuba City) voted an affirmative "no" on AB 136 (the second vote in one legislative session his number 2 guy did not vote with him).

And it is just a tax being used as a bait-and-switch funding mechanism to provide relief to the General Fund.

"Historically, these taxes on managed care plans — the MCO tax — have been swept into the state's general fund, used to balance the budget whenever times got tough," Politico reported in June when AB 119 was passed. "But this year, nearly every health care advocate and elected official in the state was demanding the money stay in the health care system."

Until the Governor needed $3.1 billion for his deficit.
